

In the capital of Transnistria, a self-declared microstate sandwiched between Moldova and Ukraine, the festive New Year's lights have gone dark ahead of schedule. This separatist sliver of...

On 11 December, Transnistria's legislature, the Supreme Council, approved a state of economic emergency for a period of 30 days as ordered by the President of Transnistria, Vadim Krasnoselsky, ...

After struggling without heat for six days, a breakaway region in the Eastern European country of Moldova is now short of electricity, too, with the authorities ordering eight hours of power ...

The cessation of Russian natural gas supplies to Transnistria has precipitated a severe energy crisis, leading to the suspension of nearly all industrial operations and leaving hundreds of ...

On 25 November 2024, Moldova's Minister of Energy, Victor Parlicov, met in Saint Petersburg in Russia with the CEO of Gazprom, Alexey Miller, to discuss the continuation of gas supplies to Transnistria in the context of the expiration of the deal between Gazprom and Naftogaz on 1 January 2025. Parlicov stated on 27 November that Gazprom had made the continuation, quantity and conditions of the supply of ga...

Hundreds of thousands of people in Transnistria now face a harsh winter without gas, heating or electricity after the Kremlin-backed leadership in Tiraspol, the provincial capital, declined ...

When you're looking for the latest and most efficient Transnistria load shifting for your PV project, our website offers a comprehensive selection of cutting-edge products designed to meet your specific ...

The energy crisis has placed Transnistria's future in doubt. Without Russian subsidies, the region's economy, heavily dependent on gas and electricity sales to Moldova, faces collapse.

The future of Transnistria, wedged between Moldova, Russia, and Ukraine, is far from clear, but the energy crisis may prove a tipping point in the long-standing dispute over the region's future.

Moldova's pro-Russia breakaway region of Transnistria is grappling with an energy crisis after Russia cut off gas shipments to the country at the New Year, leaving residents without reliable ...

The energy crisis in Transnistria is a result of long-standing dependence on Russian resources. Refusing alternative solutions worsens the situation, jeopardizing the economy and basic ...

Web: <https://capturedmoments.co.za>